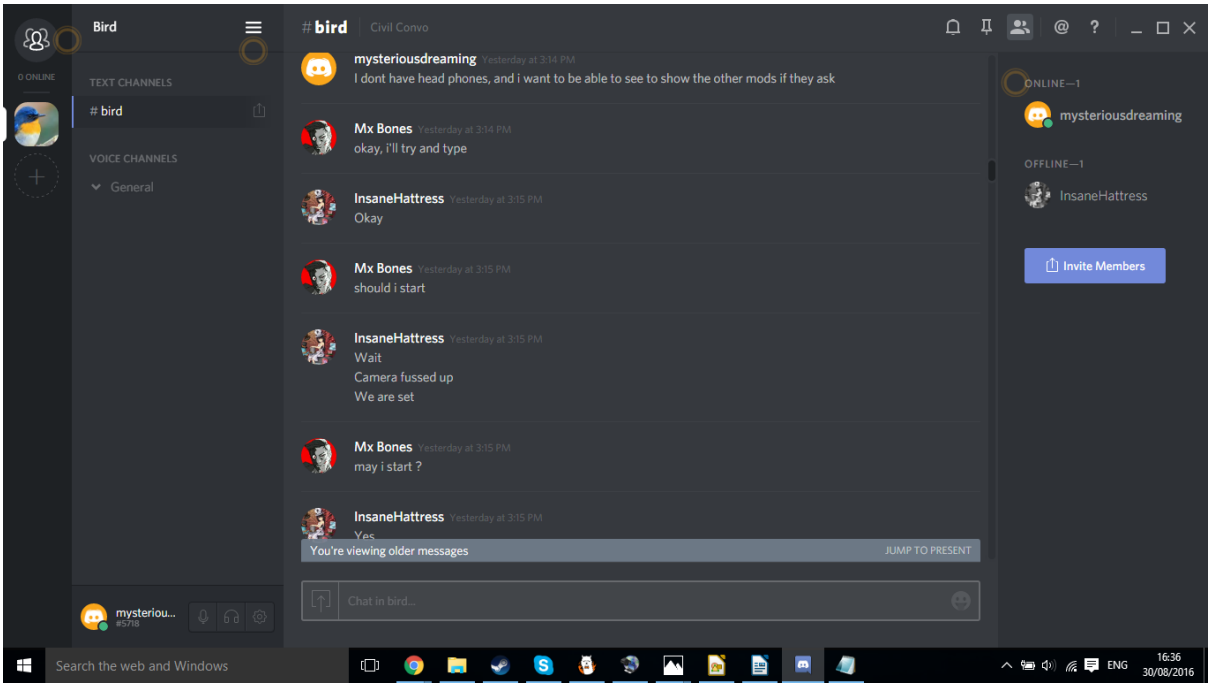
/EDIT 1: People were having trouble reading what Deo is saying in the first two responses. Made all screenshots bigger and added Deo's messages for the first two response in blue/

Hi, Mod V here, I know a lot of you, both followers of our blog and fans of deo, have been waiting for this doc, so here it is. There may be some small changes made here and there as things unravel over the next few days but you probably want to know what went down sooner rather than later. If any thing about the layout is confusing just let me know and ill try and sort it out.

Deos messages are mostly in screen shots, our first two messages are copied and pasted as it is easier to show you what part of Deo's message is being replied to this way, and allows you to read the conversation easier. The reason for this is that my first response ended up being 1,300 (One thousand three hundred) words long. As the conversation goes on both what me and deo said is in screen shots. However you you wish to see the whole conversation as it played out THIS video is a scroll trough of almost all of the conversation. The icon and name is different in some shots as they were taken today and it looks like deo has changed them since last night.Background and more information from me (In black) Is almost always above the screenshot(s) it is referring too.

I'd like to say thankyou to the third party who set this up for the god like patience they had, especially when me and Deo both lost it and things got out of control.

At the start of the conversation there was a mutual agreement inforced by the third party that each of us would wait until the other was finished before responding.



At the start of the conversation Deo wanted to talk over mic, but after i said i didn't have headphones (which is sadly true) and wanted to be able to screenshot the conversation to show the other mods they agreed to type. They went first. As said before Deos messages are in the screenshots, my responses are below in red.

Note: There may be spelling inconsistencies between the messages from here, and the ones in the chat. That is because my spelling is appalling and my replies were first written up in notepad where the is no spell check.

Its fine. It’s good that we have an opportunity to try and talk 'face to face' and discuss some of the issues we have. You have done a lot of things to some of our mods in the past on a personal level, but we won't say who they are for their own safety. As far as we know, and they say, you have not apologised for these things, and in some cases have even made more comments recently. Even if you have issues with memory you can not always use that as an excuse when some of these issues are as recent as the past few months.

There’s a lot of things you have done to make us (and a lot more people) angry. its why the blog was created. But it is good that you are willing to listen to what we have showing what you have done and how you have hurt others.

Since it becomes a major issue later in the conversation i would like to highlight the fact that from the start of the conversation I made sure to clearly mention that i could not tell them who the mods they hurt were for their safety.

but i have to say that what you are doing is damaging me and my friends very badly. you are not only hurting me, but you are hurting my friends. one of your mods (LPS or LSP or something) uses my old name and stated before that they do not care, which really hurts a lot and i would appreciate it if they used Deo or Bones. once you moved on from hurting me, you hurt my friends by name dropping them. you call me out and say that i name drop, but you do it all the time with my friend (Galaxzzi, Psychotobe, Fetusmeme and many more). You called my friends whiteknights and you called my followers whiteknights that i send to you to attack, but i have said many many many times, that they should not do that but i cannot control what they did but you still blame me for their actions. you tell me that " if you dont want them to attack us, dont mention us " but you mention my friends and when they attack them by sending them hate and talking bad things about me, you guys do not bat an eye. you also call me out for small reasons:
Example:
-Getting into new things/liking new things/getting into new fandoms (There is nothing wrong with getting into new fandoms and new things)
-Getting into Overwatch because of Zenyatta (Yes, that is the reason but now I love Overwatch as a whole and it's lore and the game is fun)
-Revealing Stream secrets that are not even problematic, they are just secret tidbits of characters just for fun, but you post screenshots of them for whatever reason which is unfair because they are only for stream goers
You cyberstalk me and condone people stalking me and spying on me in my streams. you also take things i say out of context or you take things out of proportion. You cherry pick and listen to anonymous people confessing to you without any proof, but if someone defends me you either:
-Call them a white knight
-Call them an abuse supporter/victim blamer
-Say that I manipulated them
-Ask for proof and even if provided, you take it lightly hold on, i have more to say

We do not mean to hurt your friends but sometimes some of them have done things that our followers bring to our attention and that we then discuss. Mod Asshole is no longer on the blog due to behavior like that as well as a mutual conflict, and in the past other mods (Like mod Mercy) have left over starting personal drama on the blog. We do not drop names, but sometimes your friends are mentions in the asks we receive, as stated above, but there have been times where you have actually linked blogs in 'callout posts' knowing what some of your more 'aggressive' followers will say to people in your defence. Also we often comment on the irony of you saying you are not bothered by 'hate blogs', while you vague about what is currently being said on our blog.

If you looked on the blog, you may see that comments about you joining fandoms are sent by annons that are worried about the drama that seems to follow you (weather that is your fault or not). Different mods have different opinions on this, so will sometimes reply in agreement. You have to remember that our blog is made up of 6 different people with different outlooks on each ask. I do not see why people have issue with Zenyatta getting you into the game (the same applies for me but with junkrat) although those asks tend to come from pettier anons.

The issue with stream secrets, and why we recently began to post them, was we had many fans of your work (but not your behaviour) telling us they felt bad or 'out of the loop' when they missed a stream and/or secret. I know how these people feel as when i was a die hard fan of yours (who couldn't make streams due to a busy school life and time zones) i felt the same way. Stream secrets is an issue that needs to be talked about more in depth, but its splitting the fanbase and harming some of your fans for whom pilot is a special interest, or who are kin with its characters.

We do not stalk you, and as far as i know almost all of our mods have you blocked (for personal reasons). We don't condone any stalking, spying or hate sending, but we would rather people sent things to us where we will have a civil discussion over it rather than send it to a hate blog that will hurt you and your followers over it. We say on a constant basis that we do not condone any hate of any kind. Once again it is usually anons or askers who say those things, and the response can differ depending on the Mod online. We do not cherry pic, in a situation where there is drama we often get over 100 asks, and sometimes that is too much to handle for one person.

Please also note here i also try to make it very clear that due to the blog having 6 mods the opinions stated on the blog do not reflect the opinions of everyone, and that if mods get to a certain point they are asked to leave, or leave by choice. I also try to clarify that we do not condone or support any hate sent to them

For my ex, she was very emotionally abusive and guilt trippy. She threatened suicide to sigma (I have the screenshots they sent to me the other day of the break up) if I broke up with her, even if I offered to be friends. Then you called me a pedophile when I wasn't 18 at that time. You also said I'm a pedophile for joking around with her, and she even said, at that time, that it was purely jokes and nothing more. I am asexual, and she is (or was, she might change now I do not know) asexual but you ignored that and said to your followers and agreed that I was a sexual harasser or a pedophile. When I broke up, she kept guilt tripping and she kept bringing up our break up and when I thought we totally cut ties, she outted me to my dad without my permission which risks me being killed in my country.
-You said that I was doxxing her and abusive for responding to this negatively
-You said that I was harassing her for exposing her for what she did, which is hypocritical because your blog is all about exposing things I did
-You said that she should be allowed to out me with my parents because she cares
-You supported someone saying that "Bones deserves whatever that's coming their way"
For the record, " whatever that's coming their way " is getting caned or even killed because of being part of the LGBT+ community. You said that you wish no harm upon me, but you support this. You say that you have a Malaysian mod that says that I'm exageratting what I say, but if you do a simply google search it proves you wrong.
Here are the Malaysian stuffs on LGBT+ community if you want back up of my claim.
"20 years with or without fines and whippings. LGBT rights are largely unrecognised in Malaysia. The government retains the colonial era penal code criminalising sodomy. Social attitudes towards the LGBT community are also shaped by Islam, the official religion in Malaysia."

I'm sorry if your ex was abusive, but once again we work off what we are sent. As far as i know we have never called you a pedophile but if you can prove we have ill get you an apology from the mod who said it.

I was the mod online who had to deal with the large majority of the drama around you being 'outed' to your dad. We did not say outright that you were doxing her, but you left her name uncencored and tagged her in a callout post, making it easier for your more 'aggressive' followers to find and attack her, she got death and rape threats and as you know has since deleted and renamed her blog. We did not say she should be allowed to out you (I remember defending your right to be angry to quite a few people) but the nature of her messages prove that it was not out of spite, she was worried about you and was trying to help, although i can see why you would be angry with the situation. We get a lot of messages of the "Bones deserves whatever that's coming their way" nature, and like i said before different mod's have different opinions and are still hurt over what you have done to them in the past, the may respond with more emotional attachment than a mod who was only and fan, not a friend.

I know of the lgbt issues in malaysia, and our Mod Gat did make a post about how you cannot be killed but you can be tortured, ect. However, the lgbt presence in malaysia and support for it is growing, and apparently the discrimination and punishment are not as horrific as they were before. Mod Gat knows this as they are an LGBT activist over there. We never said harm would not come your way, simply that it was not as grim as you were saying, perhaps in panic. We also had to calm so of your fans who follow the blog who were scared for your safety.

You say that I steal characters like Hacker, when the only thing that is related to Foo is the fact that Hacker is their name. You say that I stole from Lucio because of Hacker's hair, but I made this Hacker before I got into Overwatch, you can check the dates for yourself
Hacker:

You also keep bring up how me and Pixelaxe are fighting, but we made up and we are friends. We do not fight anymore and she does not steal my characters, and I do not steal her characters. You said that INDEV was stolen from Gaster, but I never knew the existence of Gaster when I made him, You also say I stole Scarlet (Vendetta's mother) from Sapphire from Steven Universe, when I made her months before the episode where Sapphire was introduced was even out.
Scarlet was from all the way back in the FNAF days.

You say that I stole Pixel from Mingesu, when the only thing common with those two is that they are robots with rainbow hair, which is a very common thing in Vocaloid (the actual thing Pixel is inspired by.). You say that I stole that Duck phobia design from Mysticbacon, when the phobia is literally " being scared of a duck watching you " associating eyes with a duck, there's no other actual ideas for a design than a duck with eyes or multiple eyes because of how specific that phobia is.

On the subject of hacker there are a lot of confusing details we could discuss in more detail if you wanted, but as for the lucio issue i do agree, and have said as much on the blog. In this case it was a coincidence. you and pixelaxe is a tough issue as many of the mods are friends with her, and were confused when she went from supporting us, back to hating on us, enough for some of the mods to be outed as members of the blog. As for the other two characters you mentioned (scarlet and INDEV) these also seem to be coincidences, i know scarlet is as i had been a fan of yours since the minecraft days and the start of the fnaf au when it was just doodles of mike, but there are characters that are quite obviously stolen. Or VERY heavily inspired by other artists work. Pixel being one of these things (and the immature post you made about 'stealing hatsune miku' upset a lot of our followers). The duck phobia seems to be a matter of interpretation and opinion, and I’m not sure i can trust your word on this issue where it could be either way as no one would admit to stealing characters.

You say that I do not have schizophrenia anymore or I'm faking it because I do not talk about it anymore which is legitimately ableist because it implies that if one does not share or talk about their mental illness online = they do not have it. I do have it, and you also say that I do not " act like a schizophrenic person " which is also very ableist. I'm sorry for using that term, but it's the only one that describes how the people on your blog are acting. Please note: I am not saying or accusing that you people ARE ableist because I dont know who you are, or how you act with people othert than me. I'm calling your actions ableist, not you.
I am not faking, and I do not use it as an excuse. I explain my actions, yes, but I never intend to say " I have this, therefore it's okay for me to do this. ". If I have ever said that or implied that that's my intentions, I apologize because I am very against using mental illnesses as an excuse. Explainations, yes, but excuses never. So please, stop telling me that I am faking my mental illness or using it as an excuse. It's very hurtful. I know very well how Tumblr can have people to fake their mental illnesses to get attention, and I know it's very common and you suspect me of it, but I am not faking. I do have it.
This is a legitimate strategy, that I explained in detail. This is how I cope:

On the subject of ableism it is back to the fact we are an ask blog. What we get sent/post may not be our opinion. Not everyone reacts to mental illness the same, and with tumblr being a place where being mentally ill is cool, some people get suspicious and very rude. This really is just other people's opinions,and may not reflect what we think.

That time I lashed out at one of my askers for bringing up FNAF Sister Location, I already apologized to that person and that person is already on good terms with me. I do not do that anymore, if anyone brings up FNAF, now, from now on I will tell them that Im not interested in it. For this:
1: I never knew the age of the asker
2: In my FAQ, I said many times to not bring FNAF up to me
3: I ask people in my description to read the FAQ before asking questions
I'm not excusing what I did, but you are telling it as if I knew the age of the asker and I fully intended to hurt them when I was being defensive on impulse. I'm not asking to be sided here, I admit that I should have been more considerate and careful with what I say (If you didnt know, I'm trying my best to control my anger. I'm trying.)
Someone came to me and told me that you are also complaining about me being a Youtube partner, apparently. Please correct me if I'm wrong on this/if you didnt do this, but if you did do this, what is so bad about it? I do not understand.

Not everyone reads FAQ's although they should, and it is extremely worrying that you replied that to anyone over such a small thing, no matter the age.

also the partner thing was in response to your post about us apparently getting you more rewards with 'our spies', i replied saying that those people attend the streams anyway there for you won't profit from it.

First things first, I did not say I'm using my memory problem as an excuse. I'm explaining that I might have forgotten what I did, hence I want you to explain to me what I did wrong but if you are not going to do that, I respect that but if I am not told what I did wrong to the mods, how am I to know what not to do again in the future? How am I supposed to apologize properly? You do not have to tell me about the mods or who the mods are. You can use code names and just tell me what I did wrong to each of them personally so I can apologize.
You say that " You do not drop names, but the names are mentioned in asks. ". That counts as name dropping. Why is it that, if I answer asks that have mentions of blogs, I get called out for name dropping but if you do it, it does not count? You name dropped my friends all the time, including Fetusmeme and Pixelaxe. Pixelaxe doesn't hate you because they are friends with me. Pixel probably doesn't hate you at all, they aren't that type of person that drops people just because they are friends with someone. They dropped a couple of you and cut ties because they saw the toxic behaviour in your moderators and did not want to be associated with you. They have told me that they have started to distance away from you even before we made up and became friends. This also counts as your blog as a whole, in the name dropping part, because you say that answering asks about people with their names in it isnt name dropping but, your entire blog is dedicated to me. You say that this is a safe space for people I've hurt, but because of the very existence of your blog, people have send ME death and rape threats and many other toxic things and threaten my safety on the internet and justify it because I made mistakes.
-and I am hurt by you and I am trying to not be but your followers keep coming to me and sending me reports of your posts. Of course I am bothered, because your entire blog is dedicated to me and me only and you started to hurt my friends as well as anyone around me. Your safe space is not safe if it puts another person in danger.
Thank you for acknowledging some of the petty asks you get (I'm using this term because you used it) but if you know how petty they are, why do you answer them? This further proves that this is not a safe space blog with good intentions, this is a hate blog to pin point any negative thing about me whether or not it's legitimately problematic or just a tiny thing. You say that this is a safe space, but you are ready to blame your askers and say that " many mods are controlling this blog " hence justifying these petty asks. This is a hate blog, not a safe space.
Stream secrets are /my/ content that /I/ own. /I/ choose what I do with them, and it is not your right to post them without my permission. I am not trying to separate the fandom. I am going to give out this secrets anyway in the future, there's no point in sharing them now. The only reason I pop them here and there is simply for fun, and you are ruining it. You say that you do not condone the actions but here is a screenshot of one of your spies sending you an ask:

First things first, I did not say I'm using my memory problem as an excuse. I'm explaining that I might have forgotten what I did, hence I want you to explain to me what I did wrong but if you are not going to do that, I respect that but if I am not told what I did wrong to the mods, how am I to know what not to do again in the future? How am I supposed to apologize properly? You do not have to tell me about the mods or who the mods are. You can use code names and just tell me what I did wrong to each of them personally so I can apologize.

You say that " You do not drop names, but the names are mentioned in asks. ". That counts as name dropping. Why is it that, if I answer asks that have mentions of blogs, I get called out for name dropping but if you do it, it does not count? You name dropped my friends all the time, including Fetusmeme and Pixelaxe. Pixelaxe doesn't hate you because they are friends with me. Pixel probably doesn't hate you at all, they aren't that type of person that drops people just because they are friends with someone. if you do not condone this action, you will tell them not to do it. but you didn't. You let it happen without saying a word. In these screenshots, you are both name dropping and condoning the actions of your spy(s) before you accuse me of going on your blog, no, these screenshots were taken by someone who follows you blog (but they no longer do because of your toxic behaviour)

I know you didnt say your using it as an excuse, but i will admit i don't think i made my point clear. You should have apologized at the time that it happened, not now be trying to think what it was. I can't tell you what you did for my mods safety, I'm sorry.

I would like to point out this is the second time I told deo that i could not tell them who the mods are for their safety.

Again, we discuss the asks that are sent to us, and sometimes that includes your friends. However if we are contacted saying not to talk about them we stop. Pixel out right told one of our mods (while they where friends) that they hated the blog. And most of my mods behaviors are not toxic, and when it gets to a point we ask them to leave (like what happened with Mod AH). And again, like i said we do not encourage or condone sending hate, some of the asks we get and don't post about you are horrible and we block or delete them, not answer them.

The petty asks that we get are not always posted by the same mod. I keep bringing up that we have 6 mods because each have different opinions. Some of the mods are more hurt by you than mods who never knew you personally, so they will answer and agree with the asks. Sometimes a petty ask will have good commentary on it, so we will focus on that in our answer.

I don’t think you understood our issue with the stream secrets. Even if you reveal them later that could seriously hurt or confuse a person who has your work as a special interest or are kin with a character. I could really hurt a Yesman kin if they did know they are trans, or make an autistic person have a meltdown if they feel like they don’t know EVERYTHING about their interest when other people know.
(First screenshot deo sent)
I don’t condone the actions, but i feel like you didn’t even read the first screenshot you sent. It’s one of the 'spies' saying they only screen shot when they feel it is necessary, and that they are telling other people NOT to send you any hate or threats. The ask doesn't really back up any of your points

(Second screen shot deo sent)
I will admit in you second ask i should have read the message better before i replied. I’m sorry, but i was almost 2:30 and i was very tired at the time.

If this is a safe space, you shouldn't be biased. You should be on neutral grounds, but you are not. You have stated in the beginning that a lot of the Moderators have personal beef with me, which already labels this as a blog that is far from a safe space. The post in question was made in a moment of panic. My life was in danger and I needed to ensure that my followers knew what happened if I suddenly stopped posting. It doesn't matter if she believed she was doing it to protect me. She still outed someone in a country that has killed people like me in the past. I could have died. Her reasoning is incredibly flawed. -and discrimination might be less, but it's not completely gone. There is still a chance for me to get killed. Especially in my area of Malaysia. Also, you cannot just make a judgement based off of one LGBT+ Activist. If they are truly an activist, they would know the more dangerous areas of my country. If you ask my friend, whom I will not name drop, they know the dangers of being LGBT+ in my country. One simple google search can prove this wrong.

Alright, this post was made as a joke and I even jokingly "shipped" this shitpost character with Hando. Is this really problematic, I really don't. Understand, this is just a shitpost/joke. That phobia is the fear of a duck watching you, do tell me what more you can do with this specific phobia. -because eyes are associated with sight and ducks with...ducks. The only other possibility of other depictions of this phobia is maybe a duck with a sniper rifle or a duck with Soldier 76's visor thing which is only thought brought up of now because of i wasnt into Overwatch at that time. I already said that Pixel was heavily inspired by Vocaloid
If you need reference to me saying that it is Vocaloid inspired, here is the post and in her description itself it is said that she is inspired by it;

Pixel knows some of the mods personally, not all. I think they know 2. For example they don't know me and i got some pretty nasty hate on my main to do with them so I’m a little salty.

Sorry about the peodfile thing, im ever more confused as those asks make no sense to me since i would not have been pedofilic for a 17 year old to date a 15 year old. But i can only apologise on mod spoops behalf as they have long left.

Now this is where I am starting to get a little bit suspicious here, because you imply that this is a safe space, right? For those who are hurt by me. Then, you say that you are not hold accounted for the asks you receive. - but now you are saying that you are an askblog. If something that is not the blog's opinion is posted, it is presented as if it is the blog's opinion. -because you have openly said that your blog is for you to talk shit about me " I saw once, there was something you made that was like " Keep calm and talk shit about Bones " or something like that.) but you continue to say that you mean no harm of me. Then you say that you aren't responsible for the asks and you do not name drop as a whole, but you answer asks with other people's urls in them and say that it's not your fault because your blog consists of 6 moderators. You also said, in your response, that the number of asks is too much for one person which defeats the purpose of having six people moderate the blog. A lot of things that you are saying are clashing with each other. Also, I /DO/ benefit. Picarto has given me Premium by their Marketing and Avertising department. I did not buy it, and they have sent me an email about how they will be using my stream to advertise. The more exposure I get, the more money I get. This is why I do get rewarded. Even private streams are a benefit because people will join the website to be able to watch and Picarto can attribute that to me, strengthening the partnership.

Okay, I'm done with this response

Your turn

You keep saying the blog is a safe space, but we never said that. And even if it was it's a blog EXPOSING you, no offence but it would not be safe to you even if we were all angels. Some of the mods have personal beef sure, but the blog is going to be mostly bias against you anyway.

I did say that you must have made the post in panic. Like i said i was the mod online (ill explain that where you brought it up later on). I'm sorry that your country is like that, but i am getting conflicting sides and i would rather drop this part of the discussion. I have googled it, got you opinion and i have my mods opinion but i don't want to discuss issues in a country i don't live in or know anything about now that mod is offline and i cannot contact them for help. I'm sorry.

I know the post was made as a joke, but considering the accusations of the character being stolen, and the conflict with their name, many people thought it was in bad taste. And like i said i am neutral on the duck phobia, as it's just one of those things that you can't do much with, but your designs are very similar.

I would comment more on pixel but I'll have to wait until i can find the post we (or someone else i cant rember) made on it. Sorry about that. But like i said before, telling me that you said they are vocaloid inspired wont tell me they are not copied, you wouldn't admit to stealing an oc, especially with 386 as their name.

What are suspicious of? It's a place for people who are hurt by you, or who want to see our evidence and decide for themselves. But it's not a safe space. We can't be held responsible for all the things said in asks, because we didn't say them. maybe ask blog is the wrong word, it's a discussion/evidence blog.The blog is a collection of opinions, but it does not represent all of the people who follow/mod on it. We try not to 'talk shit about you' and we try to stop our followers from sending us blind hate asks that have no other value to them. I have never seen that post before. When i said the number of asks is too much for 1 person, i meant that when drama happens there may only be one mod online due to time zones (and that is usually me -.-)

I would like to include this part of the conversation (while the third party was away getting lunch) where i made sure to ask deo if they were still ok, and gave them some advice to help calm down. At this point things seemed to be going alright, but not long after this was where the trouble really began.(ok that sounds dramatic but whatever)

At this point we got into a disagreement over what a ‘safe space’ is. THIS out of context quote that they used of a reply from Sailor S is the only evidence they gave of us calling the blog a ‘safe space’. The use of the word safe space was just SS saying that the blog was a safe place for people to talk about bones away from the harassment of their fans.

Safe space and safe place are the same thing.
" I cant tell you want you did because of our mods safety " Then don't blame me for not being able to apologize. I'm suspicious that I never actually did anything anything and this is all because this is made out of anger. You admitted to that. You admitted that you refuse to allow me to apologize by not explaining what I did, you admit that this blog was made in spite and anger and you lied about saying that you have never said this blog is a safe space.
if I truly did something wrong and you want me to apologize, you have to tell me what I did wrong,, but you refuse to do that."
I know I did something wrong, but if you're not going to tell me what with the reasoning being " to protect " im suspicious that you or the other mods are adding salt and pepper and add ons
If I did something wrong, you would jump and tell me but you are keeping this secretly unlike the other things you talk about on your blog
im not done yet
This is also proof that you wanting me to apologize is a blatant lie because the first step to not letting someone improve and apologise is by not telling them what they did wrong.
If your blog truly wants me to improve instead of spread hatred, you will tell me what I did wrong. but you are holding back that information despite being in a private chat
I am telling you everything, but you are not. You are holding information back, and preventing me from properly apologizing. Then when I do mess up, you jump and say I dont improve and I don't apologize im not done talking yet
I'm noticing that you are backing away, cornered and holding things back. You are backtracking while giving reasons such as "for their safety" or "its not our responsibility".
But. you call me out if my followers do things and I say that it isn't my responsibility. You have an entire blog

You have an entire blog dedicated to me and you say that you aren't condoning the actions of your followers simply because there is more than one of you. Your entire blog has one objective, and that is to target me..
And, no, I have a lot of friends who are kin who don't know the secrets. And they saw what you did and they are very crossed with you. These are my characters. My content. Not theirs. Whatever I do with them, it is my right. It is not your job to post art of mine that I do not allow posting without permission. (edited)
I make art first and foremost for myself. It's a coping mechanism and it's my passion. I know people who are kin cannot control who they are kin with, but if I'm to make a comic with plot twists and in depth character development, I should not be held responsible for a persons personal feelings about a character that I made to be a certain way over time. You wouldn't harass the crewniverse for making a gem a different way that first depicted, so why would you do this to me?
and you most CERTAINLY are NOT allowed to get in the way and post things without permission because of this you not only do the things you call me out against (name dropping in asks, not taking responsibility in your followers, revealing secrets, false associations, pedophilia and Malaysian policies) but you validate them because your blog is the so called "safe space" you deny it is despite one of your mods, with provided screenshot said it is a safe place. You pull and grasp at straws, like you just saying it isnt "a safe space, its a safe place". and you are not telling me what I did wrong.

All in all, if there is something I have done to hurt someone I would rather they come to me themselves. I am more than willing to talk to someone who feels they were wronged by me to gain closure. I am not above one on one conversation. I have had a hard time apologizing in the past because everytime I had it was deemed not

After this was the first instance of bones breaking the mutual agreement made at the start of the conversation. After saying they were done they then preceded to talk when it should have been my turn to speak (Yes, the concept is childish, but it was in place to stop arguments and was working untill they abandoned it. I was holding the speaking stick but they were talking anyway.) The third party introduced the concept of bones making a general apology post to anyone they have hurt as a way to avoid having the mods be revealed. In response to this they when off on a rant about how they have made similar posts in the past

While they were looking for the posts the third party came up with a good analogy about how it was useless for deo to be complaining that the blog wasn't safe for them, which i agreed with. After this they asked if anything had come of our conversation so far and deo responded by accusing me of 'withholding information'. This information being things i had clearly stated at the start of the conversation would not be shared. I had a reply to this point in their last response and was trying to finish what i was going to say next. When i asked them to let me finish my reply (as it was my time to talk) they snapped at me.

I see safe palce, and safe space as two diffent things. Maybe its just the people i follow, but to me a safe place is where you are afe to have an opinion, but others may dissagree. A safe space is a place where there is not pettyness or contraversal stuff. sorry if this is a diffence in translation, but S diddnt mean safe space where no one is hurt, just where they are safe to not like you without being harrased. I didnt lie either, bacuse i have never seen that ask before. It was made with an intent to show people the worst side of you and what you have done to hurt others. Or if that wasnt its goal when it was first made it has been recently.
Im sorry, but i cant tell you who the mods are! You know why? they are genuinly scared of you! Terrafied of you knowing they are on the blog as a mod. The amout of asks we get of people begging to be anon becuse they are scared of your followers sending them deaththreats and more. If i could i would ok? but i dont want them to be mad at me for outing them as a mod, or for them to get upset/annoyed. It is protecting them im sorry you cant understand that! Im keeping it secret becuse if i say you will know who they are.
We do want you to aplogise but this is hard for me becuse i cant speak for those mods in this regard. its an awkward standstill! Im holding it back becuse i do not have their persmision to share.
Honestly what YOUR kin friends said doesnt matter, diffent people have difent experiances with kin. and the crewnivers are not streaming futre episodes being borded but hiding it from part of the fandom.
what do you mean by 'you most CERTAINLY are NOT allowed to get in the way and post things without permission because of this'
Im not grasping at straws, im one person speaking for 6 and im try my best to be kind a civil. let me change tact then I PERSONALY dont validate that stuff. I cant speak for all the mods! becuse you have hurt some of them so much that they are so mad they will do that stuff!
I'll say they can go to you them selves but they wont. they are too scared.
also here is the thing on you stealing mings oc

Instead of replying to my response in full they just focused on one part. Having a go at me once again for not telling them the mods they had hurt, or what they did. Despite the fact that at this point i had told them 3 times that i could not do that, the last time quite bluntly.

First off im not asking for you to tell me who they are you did NOT acknowledge what I said in my responses because if you did, you would know that I dont want to know who they are and dont need to
I just want to know what I did wrong.
I said, you can use code names! and just tell me what I did wrong using the code names
But you didn't! acknowledge! what I said!
InsaneHattress Yesterday at 8:31 PM
Okay, there is an obvious miscommincatuion so im going to attempt to clear up. tell me if Im wrong. Okay?
Bones, I think Mod V feels that one, it would be outing them since from what I know you might reconize what you did despite you're bad memory. Also understand fear is irrational and it would be more respectful to get the mod's specific permission to even tell because since theyre apperently afriad of you, they wouldnt want to say.
*Your bad memory

InsaneHattress Yesterday at 8:33 PM
Hmmm
Mx Bones Yesterday at 8:33 PM
so how am I supposed to apologize?
to apologize, I must know what I diddid wrong
InsaneHattress Yesterday at 8:33 PM
Well, what do YOU think you did wrong in the past, not with these mods or not what do you regret?
Mx Bones Yesterday at 8:34 PM
I have accidentally been abusive and manipulative before because I didn't know what I was doing was wrong.
like, I was homophobic, transphobic and thought there was only 2 genders, etc, that stuff but that is changed
i used to look down on other and fictionkin, but I do not anymore and I infact support them
I did this a lot: I lash out and get angry easily, but now im trying my best to keep my anger under control

Deo started to talk about the friends they apologised and made up with. The third party told them that we just wanted a general apology to the people they couldn't remember hurting as they didn't want to reveal themselves and ask for one, and tried to once again let me speak.

Deo then interrupted AGAIN for the fourth time and began to try and paint us as liars, saying we would make up things that never happened and try and get them to apologise. The third party once again tried to talk to them and make them see that we could also say THEY were lying, but they wouldn't listen. At this point the starting mutual agreement was completely broken and i will admit i began to lose my temper.

Mx Bones Yesterday at 8:41 PM
So, I have to blindly apologize? What if they make up the situation out of spite and I'm apologizing for something I never did?
Because that has happened before and thankfully my friends were around to say the truth.
InsaneHattress Yesterday at 8:42 PM
usually, they dont have proof. Sometimes they do but you said (and no I know this isnt an excuse but it tends to be a fault) you forget you did it in the first place and you dont apolgize.
It's like borrowing money from the way I see it you borrow money, and you have full intent on paying it back but you forget not because you're like
'fuck that'
no, you just literally forget and the person gets mad
because well: you owe them money

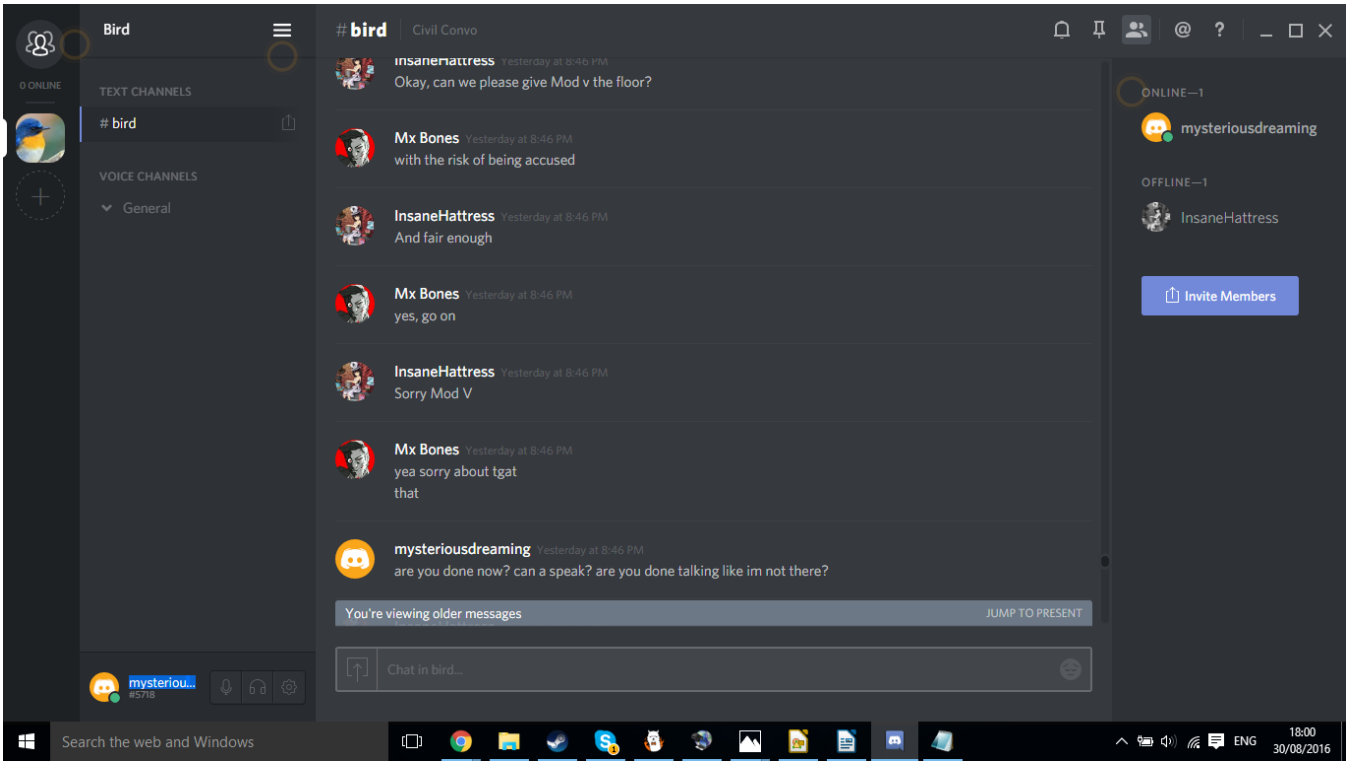
Notice how deo considers having to apologise the ‘short end of the stick’? Also I personally found it rude how this entire mini conversation took place as if i wasn't there reading it, this did partly contribute to me beginning to lose my patience.



Part of this message is cut off as to not start more unnecessary drama but I basically mentioned 2 people who bones had recently hurt and not apologised too, also adding they do lie and we have evidence of it. I also voiced that some of my worries over taking part in this chat seemd close to happening. They now start a trend of saying how they are not going to repeat their mistakes yet they do not say HOW they are going to do this. Also interrupting me for the 5th time now, even after i brought up the agreement again and said that they were now breaking it.

I then called them out on how throughout the chat they had ignored all of what i was saying bar a few details that they tried to twist, also pointing out how they had not even responded to the doc i sent about Palette Droid. Their first response to this was to try and pass the blame on to someone else, and say we did not care about other people stealing characters, causing me and the third party to point out that this chat (and the blog) was about them and what they have done. Not what other people may or may not have done.

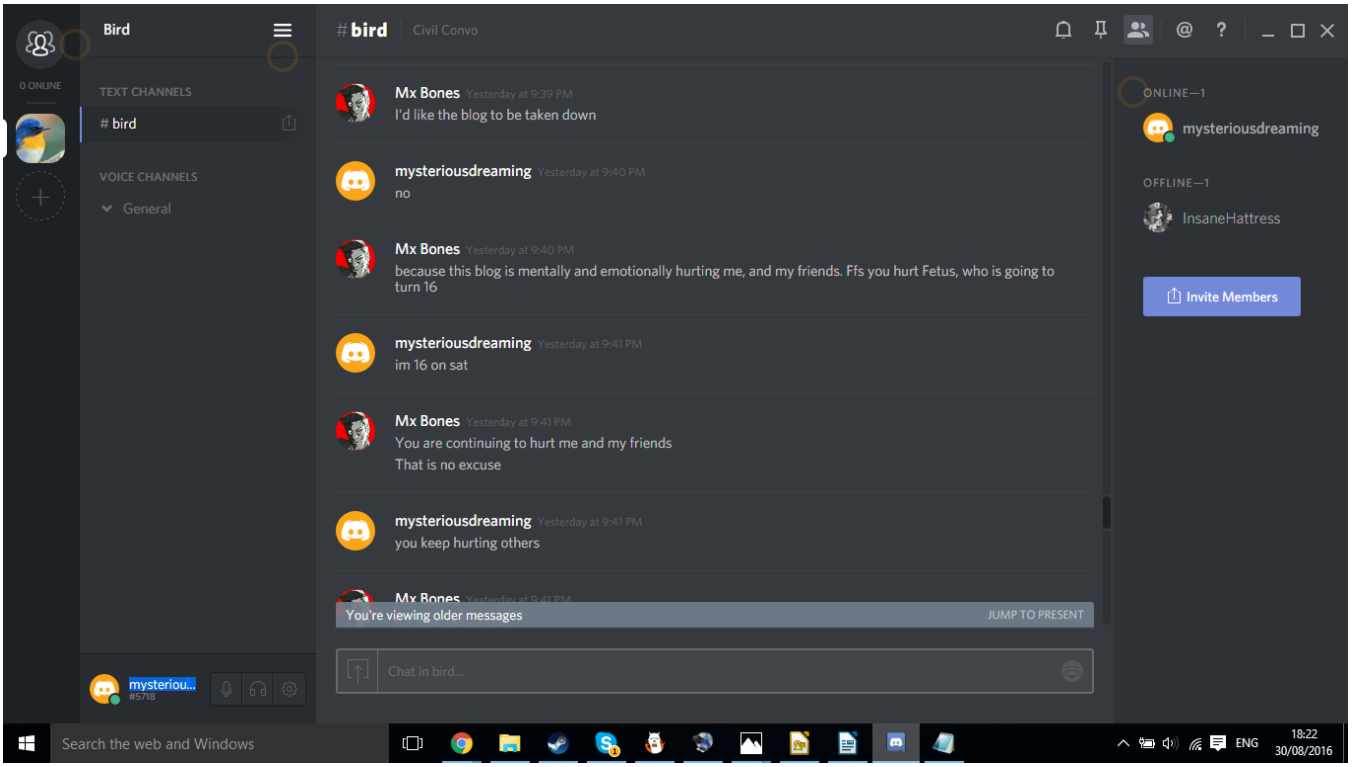
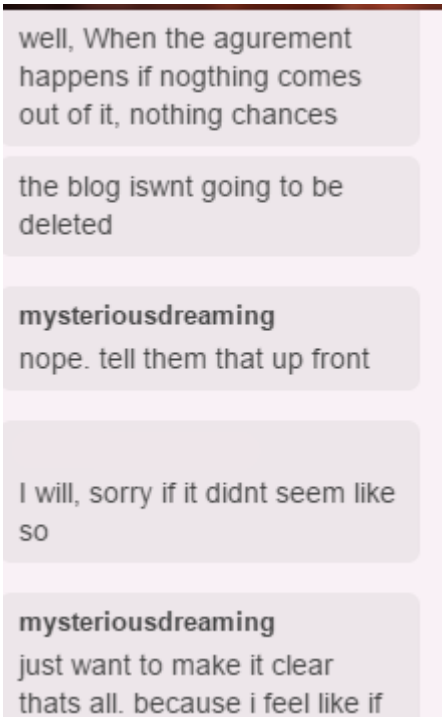
They also agree to change Pixel, which at the time felt like an accomplishment, however did not feel that way at all with what they wanted in return.



(Ok, that looked like i was doing a dramatic reveal, i wasn't) Deo wanted the blog taken down, which was something we had expected to be asked, despite the fact that it had been stated before the talk was even finalized that this was not an option that would happen.



well, When the agurement happens if nogthing comes out of it, nothing chances

(Conversation with the third party for proof)

Of course, this was not something we were willing to do, and something we had attempted to make very clear from the start. This conversation was not going to end with us deleting the blog. The next part of the conversation turned into an argument that was extremely immature on both sides, how ever at this point i was very frustrated as it was late at night and i had spent over 7 hours stressing about this conversation and this being the conclusion. Im sure the same applies for deo, but i will focus on some of the ruder things they said (and apologize for any offence i may have caused with some of my responses)

They sarcasticly ask me how i would feel to have a whole blog ‘against’ me but don't give any time to answer (this also comes up again. Also note how they are saying for people to come to them privately. They had it in their description for people not to do that, and later say they don't want people coming to them with issues from our blog.

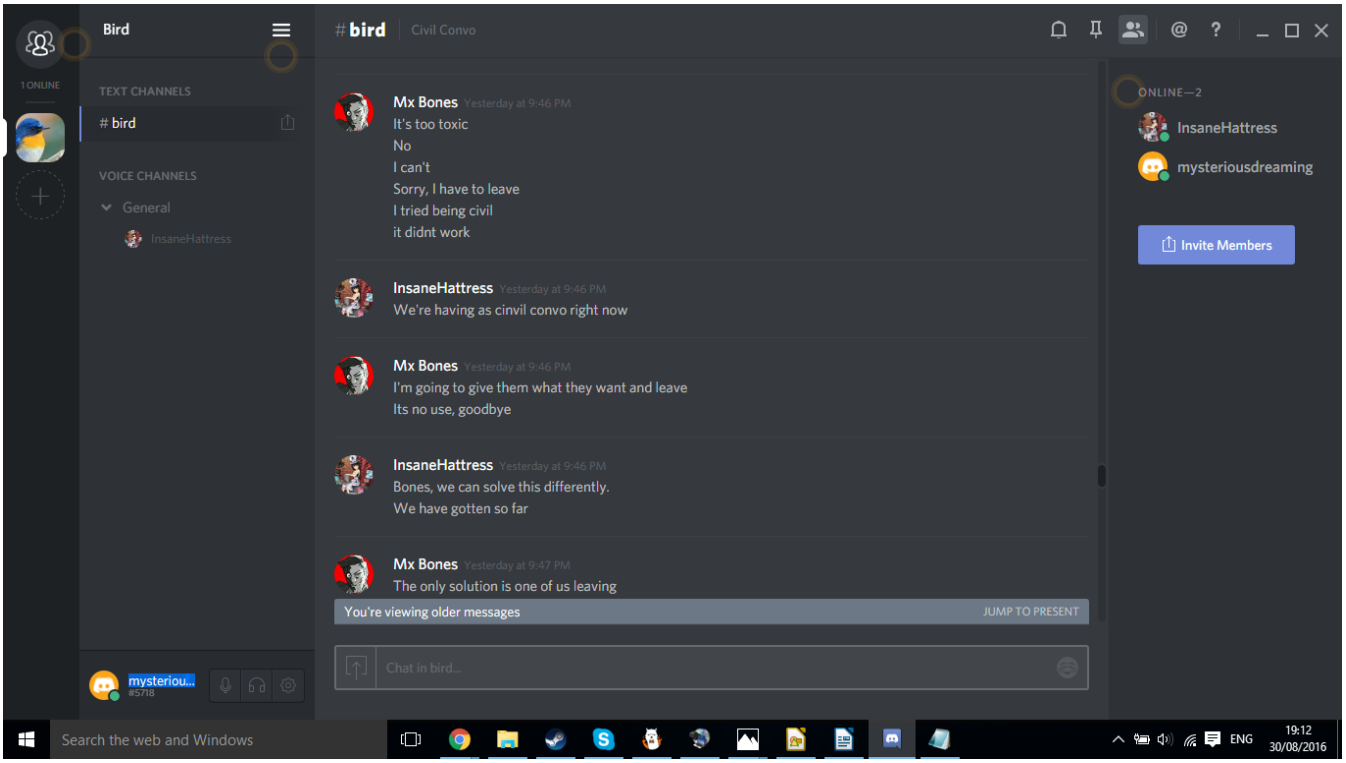
This is where deo first says they are going to delete their blog. They say they tried being civil but it didn’t work, however we never truly discussed any points not brought up by them (as you can see in this doc) nor did they let us try and find an alternative to the blog being taken down before jumping to this. They said theres no other solution but they didn't even give me a chance to offer one before this. If you are wondering why i have not replied in the last three screenshots it’s because these messages were being sent rabidly and back to back. I didn’t have time to get a word in edgeways.



I finally got a chance to say what we wanted out of this conversation, basically just an apology before we made the blog what we are planning to make it now, a discussion/confession blog for people affected by general toxic behavior. but as you can see deo is really no longer interested in having a conversation. This is the strop i was on about.

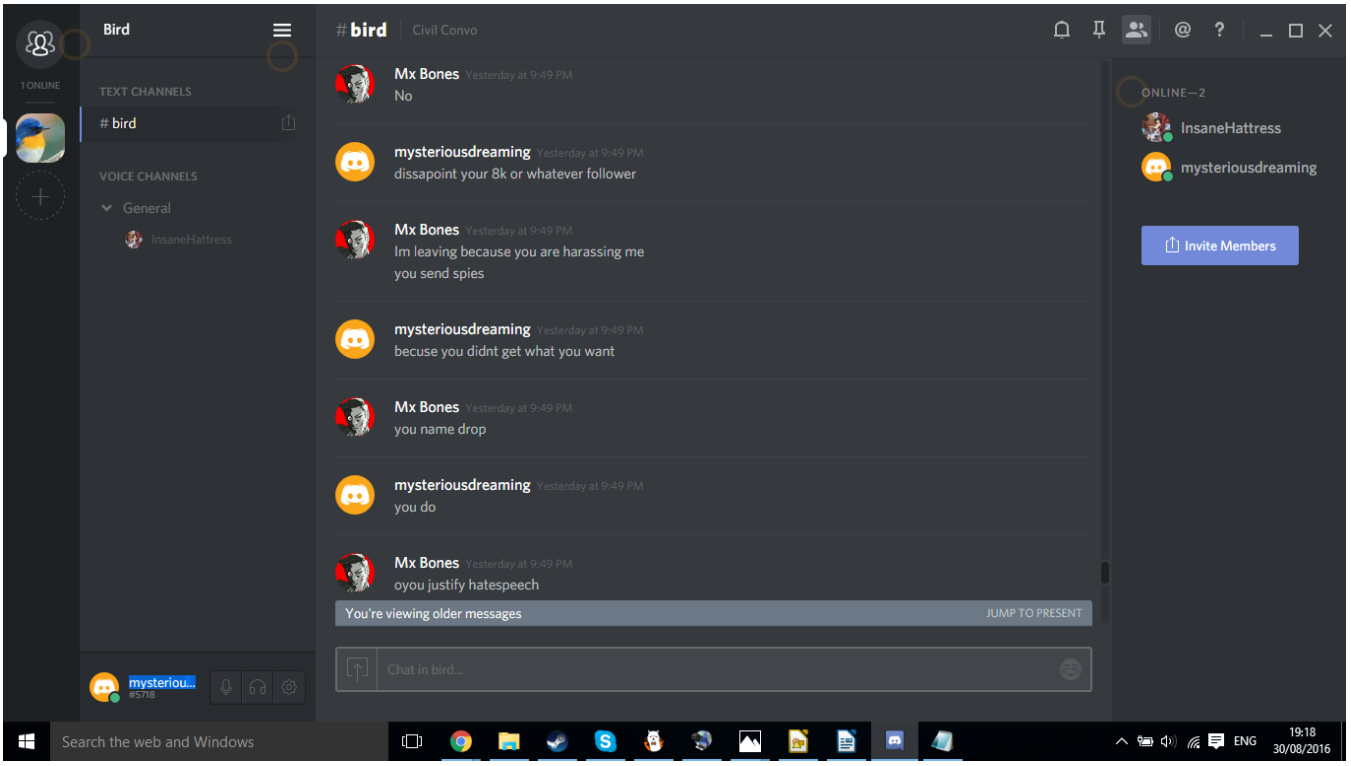
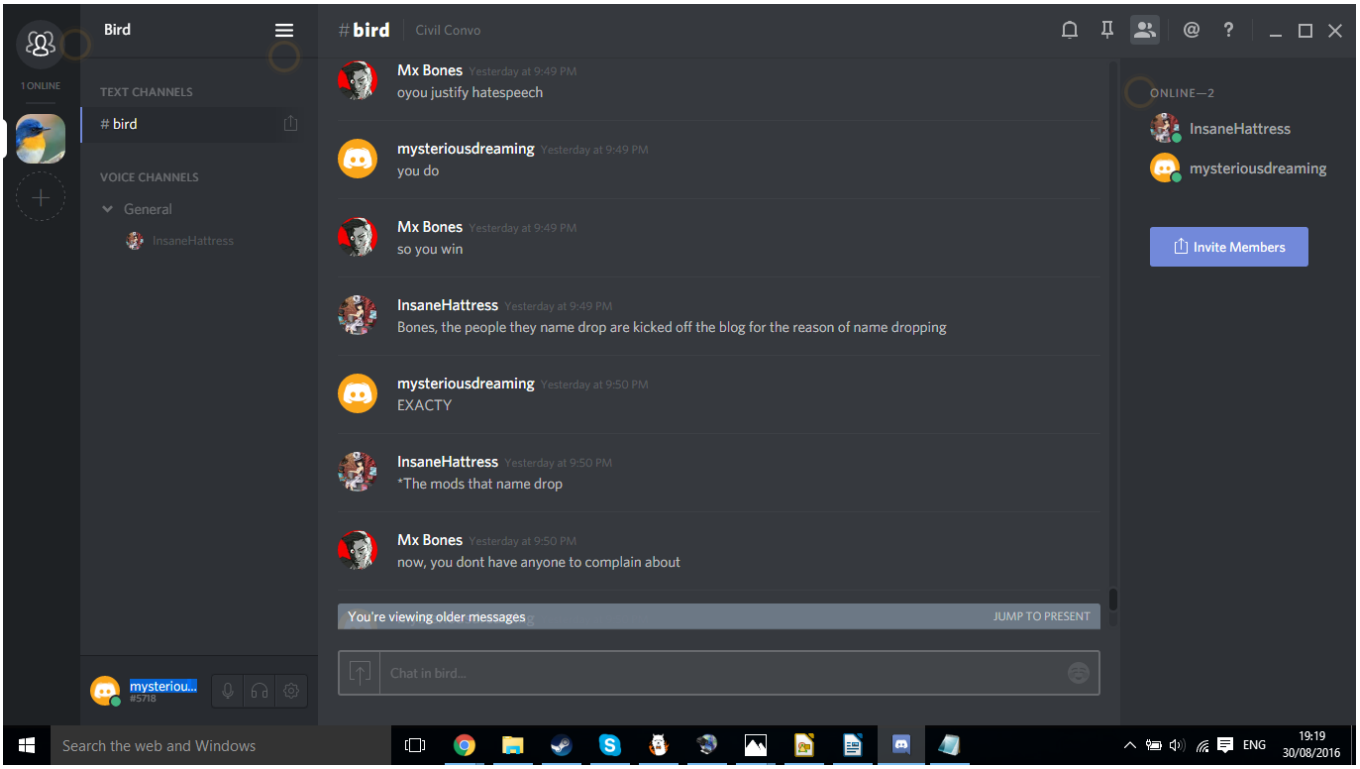
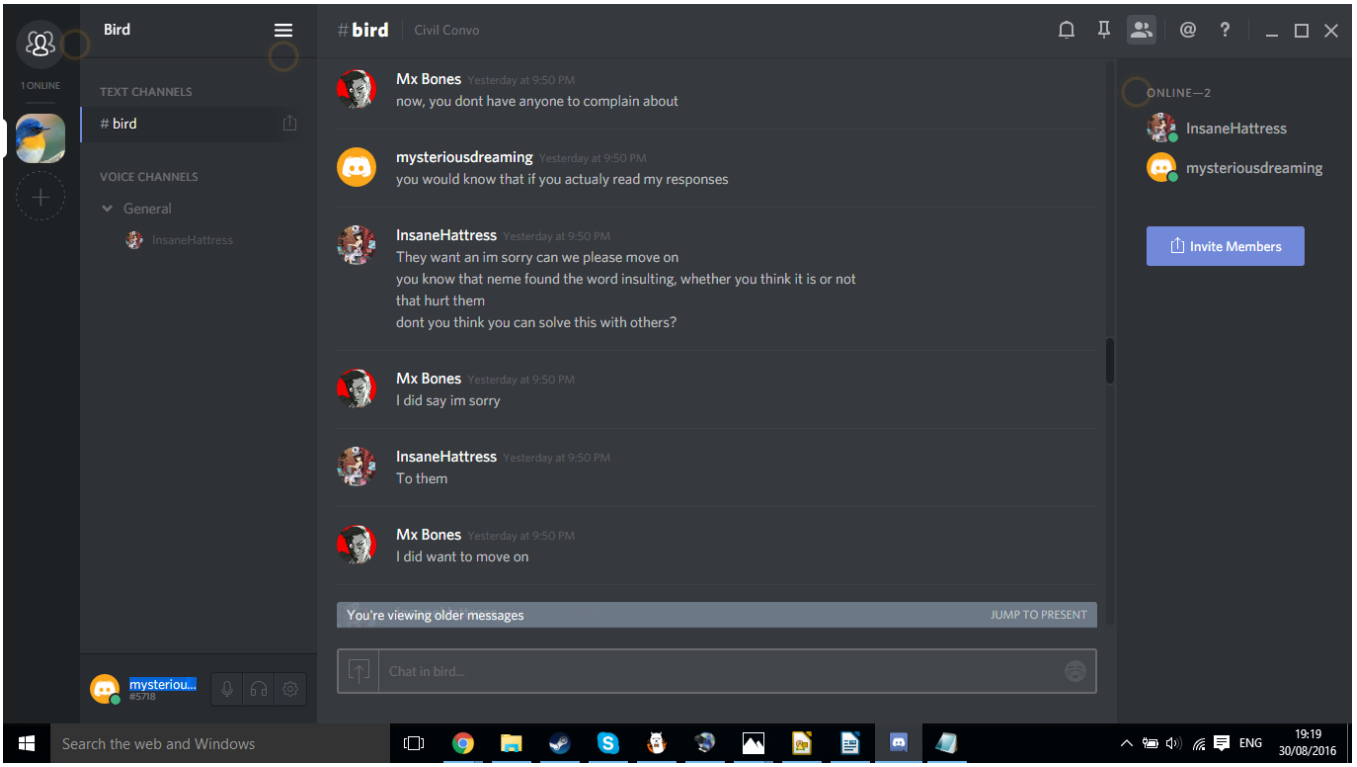
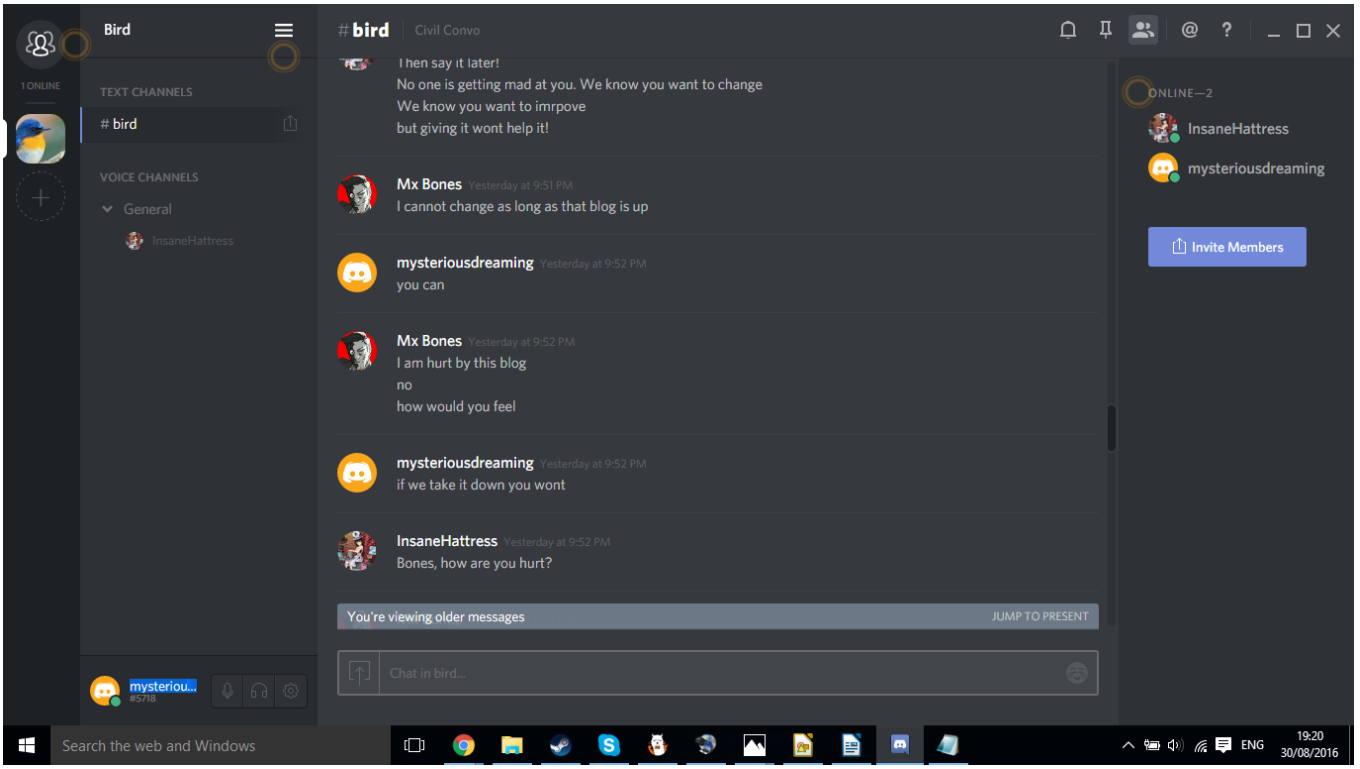
Me and bones then got into an argument, where both of us acted quite childish.

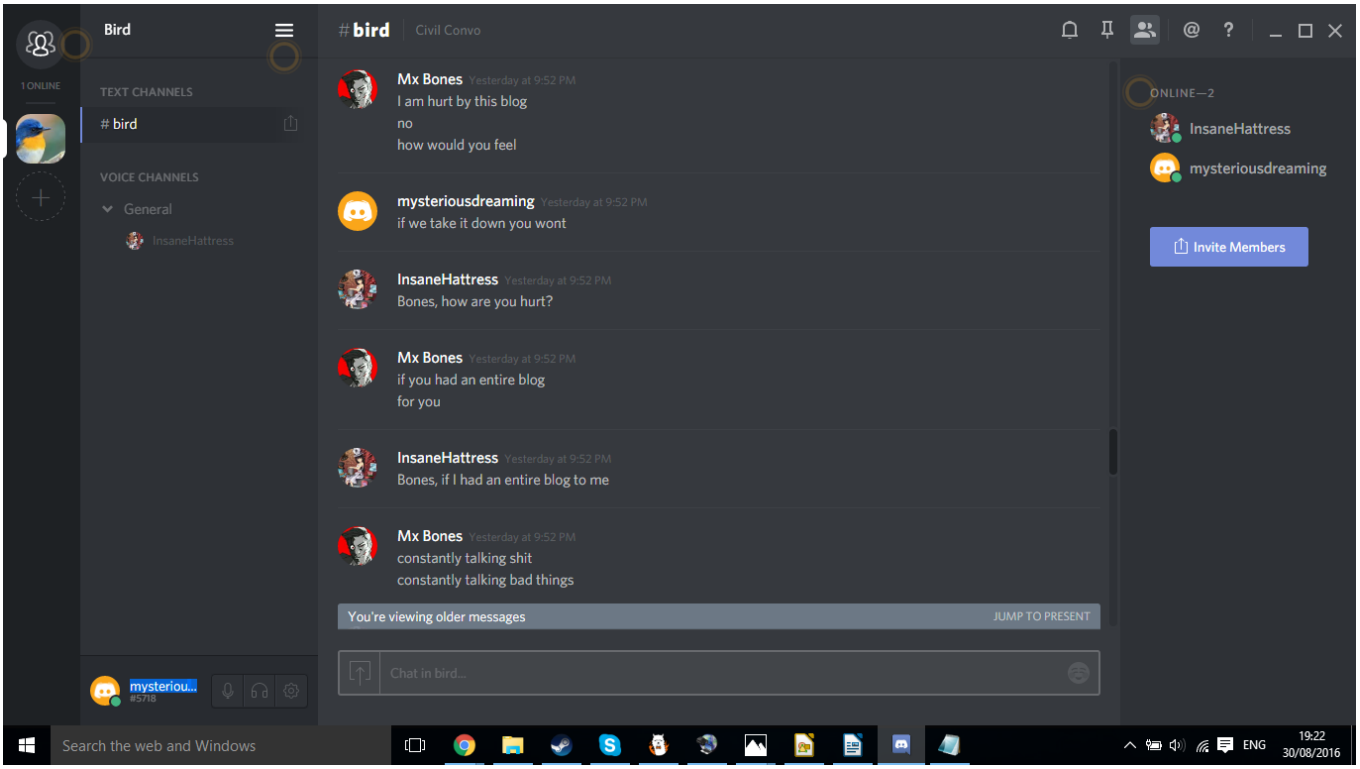




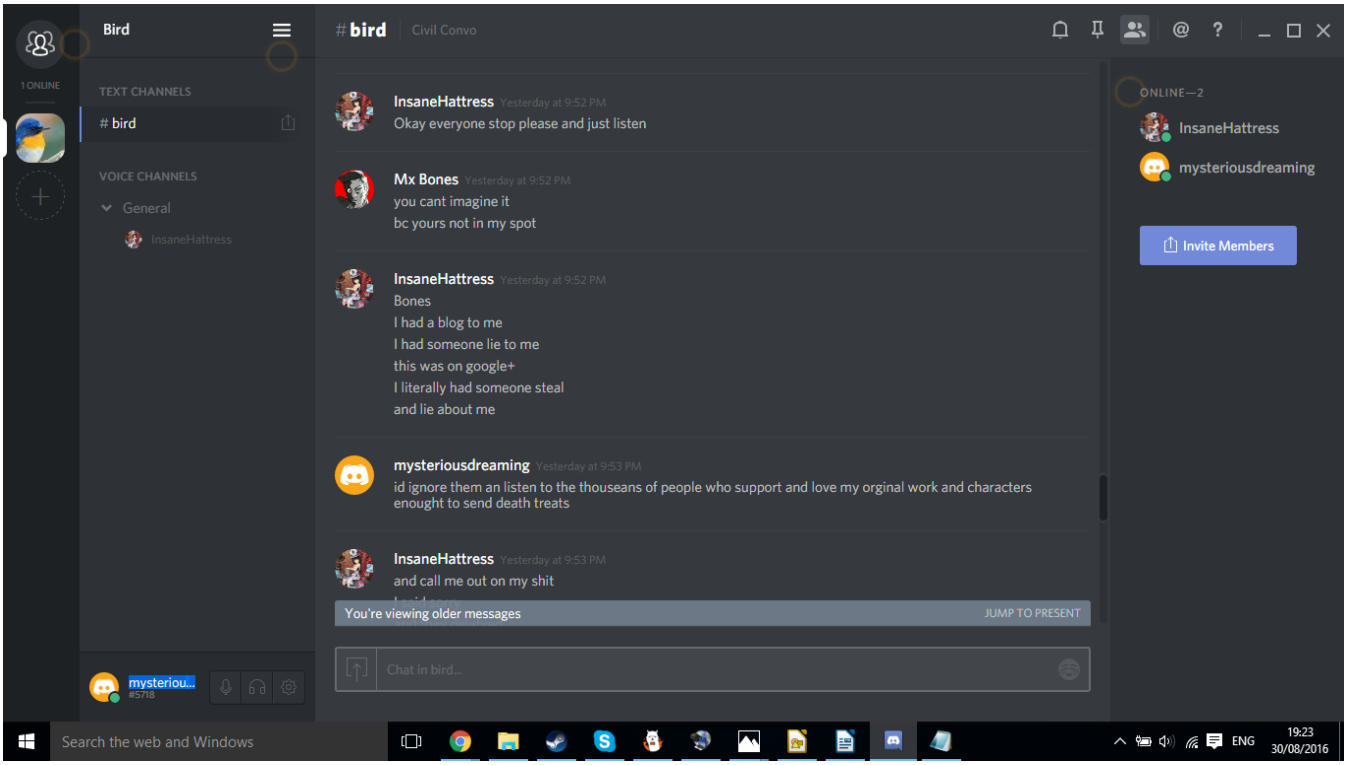


Deo says they can’t improve with the blog up, and that really annoyed me. It felt like an excuse. If we deleted the blog there would be nothing against them, they wouldn't have to change. They say they want to move on, but from the way they are acting i really can not believe that.

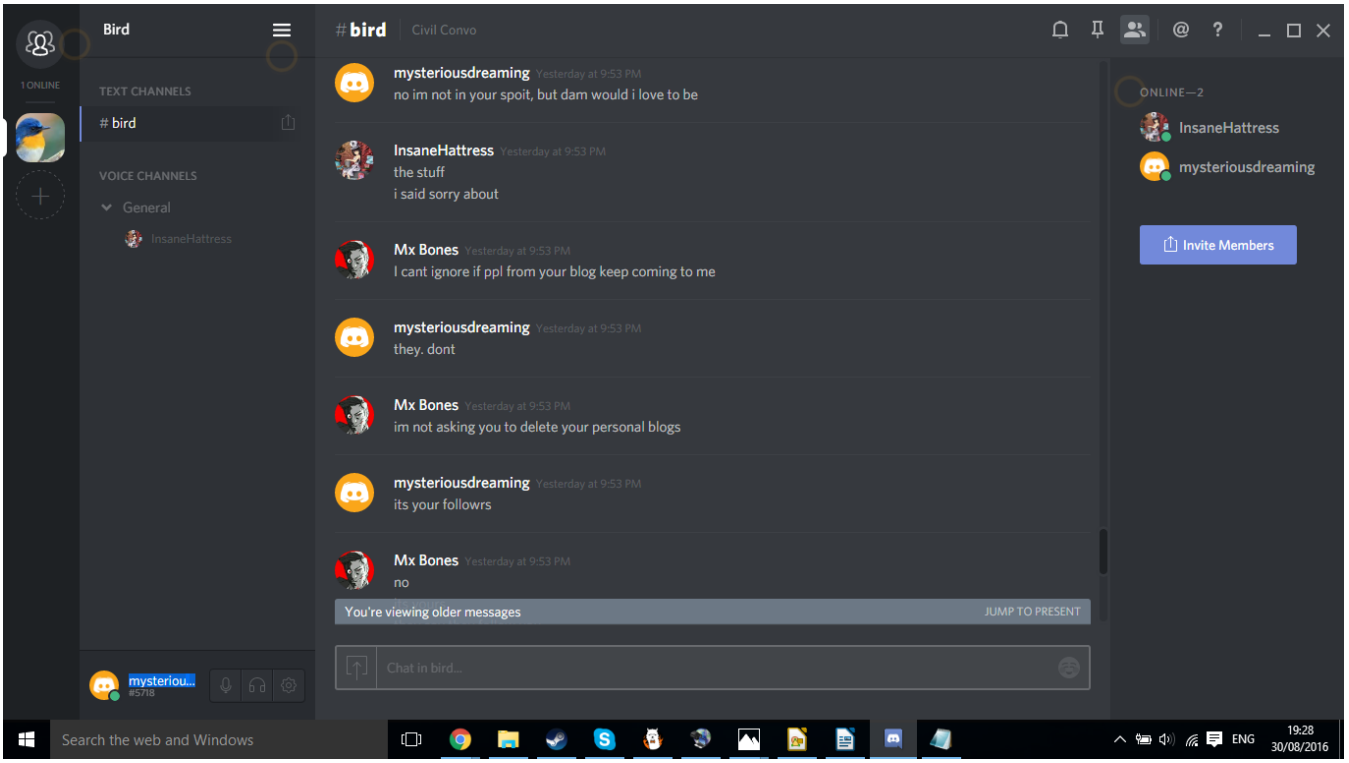


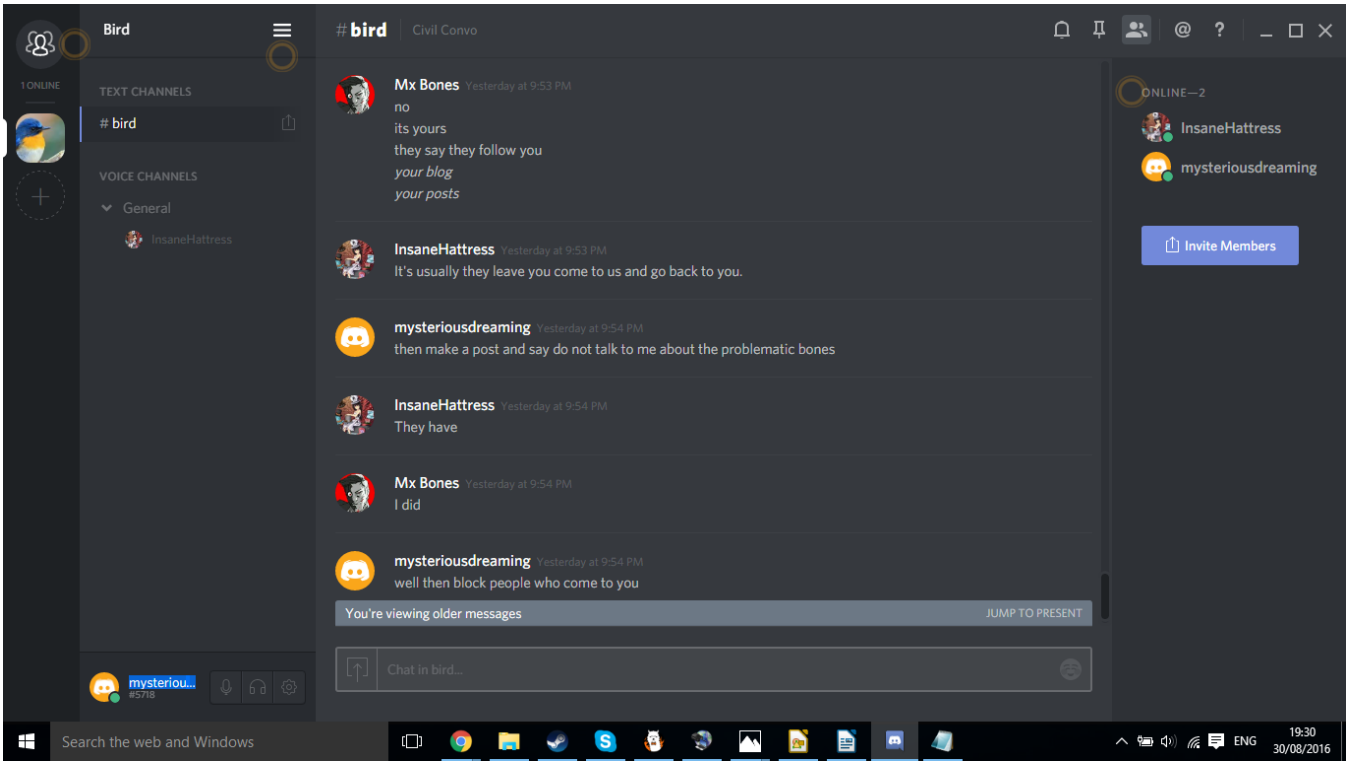


The comment i made here is slightly inappropriate but what Deo was threatening to do was making me mad. The fact that they would abandon all their fans instead of owning up to what they have done in the past as well and the present and become a better person really struck a nerve. As someone who wishes for that kind of support for my work and stories it rubbed up up the wrong way, but i should not have made it personal. I'm sorry for that.



This is another thing that does not make sense to me, the fact that deo seems to think that the people who tell them what's going on in our blog are our followers. Why would they do that? They are their followers who come to our blog, and then back to theirs to 'warn them'.





The problem we have with Deo vagueing about the blog is that they always talk about how they don't listen to hate, don't care about hate and that they don't look at our blog. We have proof that they do and have even gone as far as to block their ip address. We can't do anything about vague posts and they are just pathetic.(some of the comments i made in these shots were out of order, but at this point i was angry and very pissed of that they wouldn't stop and listen to me or just be reasonable for two seconds. I was annoyed that they kept denying that they would ever do anything wrong, and just tried to make me look bad. But even so, I'm sorry)

The third party finally got things under control for a second and asked bones a question. They replied the same as before, with their same pattern of saying they would change but not telling me how. When the third party asks them another question they ignore it, once again going back to the blog being deleted being the only option, and trying to guilt trip.

And here is the big thing, deo saying they will only agree to the blog being taken down. No negotiation, no finding a middle ground or anything. I'd have to say this is one of our most incriminating pieces of evidence against them. They don't want ot change or improve or even try and come to an agreement, they just want proof of the horrific things they have done to others gone. Deo just can’t seem to understand that most of our followers don't come in spite or jealousy, they come hurt by deo, or they come wanting to know the whole truth, not just deos side and decide for themself how they feel. This is just more proof that they don't want to admit they need to change.

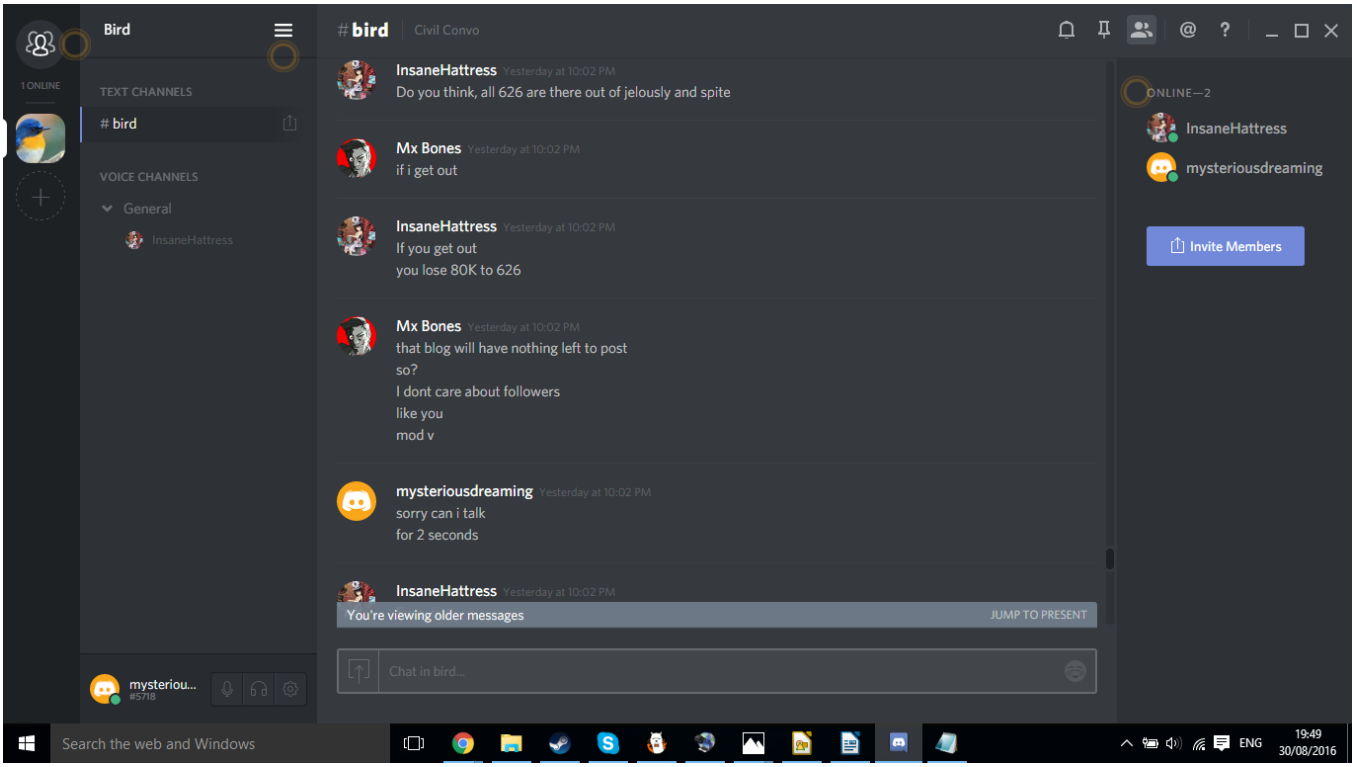
Also Deo outright says they do not care about their followers. Sorry guys, they would lose you in a heartbeat if they don't get their way.



Here's the final stretch, while i may have been wrong to add a personal level to my response i was tired, angry and frustrated.(also shout out to discord for letting me know about my new messages since before i was born -.-)

the person with 80K who has so much love of their own personal project and oc's, constant fan art, constant head cannons and asks about their charaters is telling the person who has 386 followers and about5 notes if im lucky on any art, who craves that shit becuse the work just as hard, that they dont care about any followers. thats like a king telling a poor person "I dont care about money like you" Thats the shit that winds people up, and makes them come to us. its these little things that you just dont see. you dont think before you speak! you dont take a second to watch what you say, or think about how that hurts to others and you then come off looking like and ass

And that's it folks. They left. In the middle of the third party replying. No more discussion. As soon as I said no they had a one track mind, and wouldn't listen, Not to mention how things slowly deteriorated up until that point. I'm sorry that i couldn't stop them, but now can you see how hard it was and how stubborn they were? I tried to be civil and work things out for 7 hours. 7 hours of having my points ignored and being attacked over the same points again and again.

But that's the conversation. And if you follow bones or follow us I hope this helped you to understand what's been going on a little better. If multiple people ask about things the doc will be updated.

Ps. Thank you for all the kind messages when i when back to the blog after deo made their posts upset and almost having a breakdown. You really cheered me up and the amount of support was overwhelming, thank you.
